Chamber of Commerce to Support Proposal for City Manager Here

Support for a proposed change in the form of municipal government in Hamlin was indicated Tuesday morning when members of the board of directors of the Chamber of Commerce voiced approval of the proposal in their monthly meeting.

No official action was taken on the matter, but individual members of the board expressed themselves as being strongly in favor of a plan to change the city's charter to provide for the managerial government.

J. C. Turner Jr., was appointed by President Haskell Carter to represent the Chamber of Commerce on the city planning commission, which is being organized here with a representative from each civic and service club on the committee. Turner is the first representative of any club to be appointed, but the committee had the

J. Cleo Scott to Leave Hamlin for Conroe Pastorate

J. Cleo Scott, who for the past 33 months has been minister for the Hamlin Church of Christ, will leave here next Tuesday with his family for Conroe, where he has accepted the pastorate of the Church of Christ.

Conroe is located near Houston and is the county seat of Montgomery County.

Scott came to Hamlin from Haskell, where he had served as superintendent of schools while he also served as minister for the Rule Church of Christ.

During Scott's pastorage here the local church has accepted 95 new members. The basement of the building has been lighted, repaired and redecorated, new pews have been installed in the auditorium and numerous other improvements have been made.

The Hamlin church during the past three years has conducted several gospel meetings, and is now supporting three missionaries. Two of the church-supported missionaries are in Mexico and one, Ed Brown of Abilene, will leave soon for Japan to serve as a missionary there.

Brown is coming here for a gospel meeting, beginning next week, and will serve as local minister until the congregation selects a successor to Scott.

Scott has been active, not only in church matters, but in civic affairs during his residence in Hamlin.

Mrs. Earl Misener to Leave for Japan Soon

Mrs. Earl Misener and little son, Bobbie, will leave Hamlin Saturday, March 26 for San Francisco, from which place they will sail for Japan to join Captain Misener.

They will sail from San Francisco March 28 and will arrive in Japan sometime in April. Captain and Mrs. Misener will make their home in Takamatsu, Japan, which is in the Kobe area. It is here that Captain Misener is on duty.

ASPERMONT MAN DIES.

William C. Graham, 76, resident of Stonewall County for more than a quarter of a century, died in his home in Aspermont last Wednesday morning. Graham, who formerly lived in Haskell County was widely known throughout this area and had many friends in Hamlin. Services were conducted in the Aspermont Methodist Church last Thursday and burial was in Aspermont cemetery.

matter under consideration this week and are expected to name representatives.

In addition to approval for the managerial form of government, members of the board discussed the hiring of a paid manager for the Chamber of Commerce. They also expressed themselves as being in favor of installing a swimming pool in Hamlin in the near future.

Plans for the swimming pool have been talked for several weeks by several civic leaders, and it is proposed to obtain figures on cost of construction and maintenance, together with estimates on the revenue produced by a pool. It is hoped that the project can be financed by the issuance of revenue bonds, which would be retired by revenue from the pool. No official action was taken on this matter.

I. R. Huchingson, superintendent of the Hamlin schools, was elected vice president of the Oilbelt District of Texas State Teachers Association in a meeting in Wichita Falls last Saturday. Superintendent C. W. Tarter of Sweetwater was elected president. The association went of record as favoring the Gilmer-Aikin educational bill.

Ellenburger Test Slated Saturday

Casing Cemented for Dual Production Try;
Completions Seen in Round Top Area Field

Operators set casing and cemented it this week preparatory to an attempt to bring in the Pardue & Toler No. 1, discovery well in the Ellenburger for the Hamlin area, for dual production.

The well, drilled by the Texas Pacific Coal & Oil Co., had penetrated more than 100 feet in the Ellenburger pay zone when drilling operations were stopped. It was bottomed at approximately 7,000 feet.

A drillstem test below 6,050 feet, the fifth test in the section, failed to show signs of oil production. From 5,950 to 6,505 feet, the formation showed almost continuous saturation and indicated good production on drillstem tests.

Called the most important discovery of the year in this area, the well has an unusually thick zone of oil showing. At least two other sections, the swastika and the reef had indicated commercial possibilities on drillstem tests before the Ellenburger was reached.

Drilling has got underway on several wells in the Round Top area of the Hamlin field.

Swindler of Hamlin Men Facing Charges

A man who is alleged to have swindled a group of Hamlin business men out of a large sum of money several years ago, is facing grand jury action in federal district court in Kansas City, Mo., this week.

The man is said to have collected more than one million dollars through his operations in Texas and other states. The deal he worked here concerned the sale of combines on a large scale.

Stanley Carmichael went to Kansas City Wednesday, where he was summoned as a witness in the grand jury hearing.

Church of Christ to Have Gospel Meeting

A gospel meeting for the Hamlin Church of Christ is slated to begin Sunday, March 27, it was announced this week by J. Cleo Scott, minister.

E. W. McMillan, widely known evangelist, will have charge of the services, and Edward Grown of Abilene, will be in charge of the song services.

The meeting will continue until Sunday, April 3, Scott said. The public is invited to attend.

Semper Fidelis is the motto of the U. S. Marine Corps.

School Election Set for April 2; Two to Be Named

Election of two trustees to the Hamlin Board of Education will take place Saturday, April 2, it was announced this week by LaFoy Patterson, secretary of the board.

The election, ordered by the Board of the Hamlin Consolidated Independent School District, will require the same qualifications for voters as a regular election, Patterson said.

To be eligible to vote in the balloting, a person must be a resident of the district and have a paid up poll tax.

The two trustees whose terms will expire this year are A. Spencer and C. C. Bailey. Both of the men have consented to have their names submitted for reelection to the posts.

Any person desiring to have his name placed on the printed ballot must file the name with Patterson not later than Tuesday, March 29, when filing closes.

The board is composed of seven members. Jess Garrett recently has been appointed to the board to fill out the unexpired two-year term of G. R. Bennett.

Burleson Is Named to Important Committee

Omar Burleson, representative of the 17th Texas District in Congress, has been selected to serve on the House Foreign Affairs Committee, to fill the vacancy created when Sol Bloom of New York chairman of the committee, died last week.

Burleson's appointment gives Texas a representative on the foreign affairs committees in both houses of Congress. Senator Tom Connally is serving on the committee in the upper house.

Gold Is Elected Post Commander Of Hamlin VFW

C. W. Gold was elected commander of the Hamlin Post of Veterans of Foreign Wars in the annual election conducted Wednesday evening. Gold will succeed Clyde Huff, who has served during the past year.

Other officers elected at the meeting were: Lewis Yates, senior vice commander; Doc Neal, junior vice commander; Clyde Huff, quartermaster; Arlie Casle, post advocate, and John Scarborough, chaplain.

The position of surgeon was left vacant. Vernon Ely and Cleo Perryman were chosen for trustees and Ben Townley was named chairman of the board.

Four members of the board were elected. They are: Frank O. Hillier, Bill Fomby, John Hymer and Henry Henson.

The officers chosen for the positions will be installed Wednesday night, April 6 in rites to be conducted in the VFW meeting place.

"An African Adventure," a sound motion picture filmed in the wilds of Africa by big game hunters from Texas, will be shown in the Hamlin High School auditorium Friday night, April 8, it was announced this week.

The picture is being brought here by the Hamlin Lions Club. An afternoon showing has been scheduled for school students.

Filed in natural colors, the picture will show 100,000 animals in mass migration; the meanest animal in the world; native African warriors as they leave for conquest; real lions stalking a photographer, and many other scenes of interest.

The picture has been shown in surrounding towns and some members of the Hamlin Lions Club have seen it and describe it as "very interesting."

In addition to plans for the African film showing, the Lions Club is also planning for the zone ladies' night to be held here Friday evening, April 15.

It is expected that representatives from 16 clubs in nearby counties will attend the zone meeting, which will be held in the Elementary school gymnasium.

Committees were appointed at the Tuesday noon meeting of the club to make arrangements for the event. I. R. Huchingson, Delma Shelburne and Clyde Angel were named to the food committee; A. Spencer, J. H. King, Herman Treadwell and Bill Shira are on the committee for tables and chairs; H. McBride, W. C. Russell and Stanley Carmichael are members of the program committee.

It is expected that more than 500 people will attend the banquet.

Anson Will Install City Mail Delivery

City mail delivery in Anson appeared likely this week to become an actuality within the near future. A. J. Smith Jr., president of the chamber of commerce there, said.

Postal inspectors have checked the city and found sufficient need for such service in the county seat.

Numbering of houses and marking streets must yet be done before the city can qualify for the program.

H. H. Dunklin, Avoca Scout Commissioner, was host for the meeting.

Council Requests Federal Building

No Final Action Taken on Numbering of Houses and Streets; Lights Are Ordered

Mayor Holly Toler was instructed by official action of the Hamlin City Council to request early approval of a federal building for Hamlin, it was voted in the Tuesday night meeting of the body.

It was pointed out that Hamlin likely is the largest town in this congressional district without adequate post office facilities, and the mayor was instructed to write letters to Congressman Omar Burleson and the post office department to urge early construction of a suitable building here.

Several possible sites for the building have been viewed by city leaders, but final approval of any site will rest with the post office department, it was pointed out.

The action came when it was learned that appropriations bills in congress will provide for construction of at least one such building in each congressional district.

The lease on the present post office building will expire in 1951, and if it is renewed it would be for a period of 10 years. The city council urged that action be taken before expiration of the lease.

No final action was taken Tuesday night on the proposal submitted by the joint Rotary-Lions clubs committee for naming of streets and numbering of houses in Hamlin.

The committee's plan was discussed at length by the council and members of the committee, but the council deferred action until the proposal can be given further study.

The plan as presented called for designating the streets by number and the avenues by letter of the alphabet.

Approval of arecent survey on street lighting was made, and the West Texas Utility Company, was asked to place its order for sufficient lights to take care of immediate necessities in the residential district. The lights will be placed on or der, together with necessary wires, light fixtures and additional transformers required, but it is uncertain when they will be delivered for installation.

A member of the city council told The Herald Thursday morning that the Katy had been requested more than a year ago to maintain a flagman at the crossing, or to install warning signals.

Condition of the injured persons was reported improving at the hospital Thursday.

The survey was made several weeks ago by the utility company after the council asked that it be done.

Members of the council reported Thursday that an automatic electric warning signal will be installed at the Santa Fe railroad crossing on South Central Avenue within a short time. The warning signal was ordered after Santa Fe officials agreed to the installation.

Three Injured as Car Strikes Train On Katy Track

Three persons suffered serious injury about 10:00 o'clock Tuesday night when the Ford coupe in which they were riding crashed into the side of a freight train at the Katy railroad tracks on North Central Avenue.

The three are: I. E. Smith Sr., about 19, of Hamlin Star Route, his sister, Maxine Smith, about 15, and Nancy Goodrum, about 15, of Aspermont.

The three were taken to the Hamlin Memorial Hospital in an ambulance where they are being treated.

Smith suffered a broken arm and badly injured leg, together with bruises and lacerations on other parts of his body.

Maxine Smith had a broken arm, broken ankle and serious cuts about the head and face.

Nancy Goodrum suffered a broken arm and deep cuts and bruises.

The car rammed into the side of a tank car that stood across the road while the train crew was unloading freight. The coupe was badly damaged by the impact.

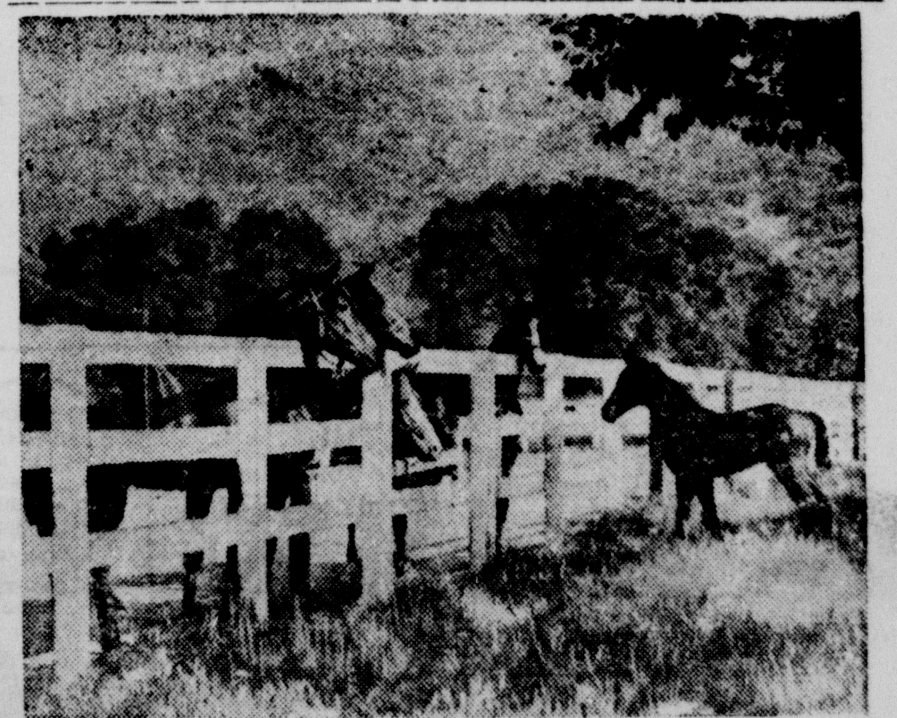

John Neal, conductor on the train called an ambulance and helped load the injured persons for the trip to the hospital.

Employees of the Katy railroad said Thursday that marks on the pavement south of the track indicated that Smith had applied his brakes 240 feet from the crossing, but that the brake on only one wheel took hold. They reported skid marks of one wheel visible for that distance.

A member of the city council told The Herald Thursday morning that the Katy had been requested more than a year ago to maintain a flagman at the crossing, or to install warning signals.

Condition of the injured persons was reported improving at the hospital Thursday.

Investment in Youth

The proposal being talked here for the construction of a swimming pool in Hamlin will not entail an actual expense—rather it will be an investment in youth—an investment that will pay far greater dividends than would some large industry with huge payrolls.

Hamlin is no longer a village. It is on the verge of becoming a thriving little city with vast potentialities. But it cannot attain its proper destiny unless those of us who live here now make progressive plans for a progressive future.

The cost of a pool, such as that proposed could be taken care of by the issuance of revenue bonds, and proceeds from the operation of the pool would retire the bonds. This plan would not cost the promoters anything, and neither would it cost the taxpayers of Hamlin anything.

The proposal for the pool has not yet passed the "talk" stage, but many progressive citizens are urging that a pool be constructed to afford Hamlin young people a means of recreation that for far too long has been denied to them.

The construction of a pool here would, in the final sense, be an investment in Hamlin youth, and we can ill afford to turn down such investments.

In Merrye Olde England

It's a "people's" government in England since the starry-eyed socialistic planners took over that country following the recent war. And as a "people's" government, undoubtedly it is the people who reap all the glorious benefits that accrue to those who live in such planned economy. However, here are a few instances, taken from official records that would indicate all is not merry in "Merrye Olde England."

If a gardner sells a green onion smaller than 1 3/4 inches in circumference, he is liable to fine or imprisonment.

John Harrington of Bath, a carpenter, quit his job and applied to the Labor Exchange for other employment. He was told to go back to the job he quit, or go to prison for three months, or pay a fine of 100 pounds. John went back to his saw.

A man in Jarow laid a garden walk without a license, but was finally acquitted of crime when he explained that a government official told him, "No license was needed if the cement was applied not with a trowel but with a watering can."

Of course that condition can't happen here where we, too, are walking blindly and boldly into socialism—or, can it?

Managerial Government

Sentiment among business and civic leaders of Hamlin is turning strongly toward a change in the type of government for our municipality. Many people have declared themselves in favor of a city manager to replace the present councilmanic government.

The city manager plan has been in operation for more than a third of a century and in most instances has proven to be much more efficient than other systems. It is now being used by most of the larger cities and in many of the smaller ones, and few have abandoned the managerial form after it has been given a fair trial.

Under the city manager plan the city council would still be elected, and would serve without pay. It would be the duty of the council to enact ordinances and to employ and discharge the manager. Other than that, members of the body would have few duties.

An efficient city manager would require a comparatively large salary, but the increased efficiency of city government that would result would more than offset the additional cost.

It is likely that a movement will begin within a short time to effect a change in the form of our government that will give us a city manager.

Taft-Hartley Law Appraisal Gives Picture of Aid to All Workers

By Maurice R. Franks

Lifting the Iron Curtain on the Taft-Hartley Act and studying the performance for what it is worth, we can see at a glance the many benefits it confers upon the individual worker—in the form of new freedoms and protections against tyranny. With the Iron Curtain and its phony slogan out of the way, we find that under the Taft-Hartley Law's efficient operation:

- 1.—The worker is free to secure a job without first belonging to a labor union;
- 2.—The worker is free to hold onto his job without fear of what high-handed labor bosses might do to him;
- 3.—The worker is free to voice his opinion at union meetings without fear of being "kicked around" on the job;
- 4.—The worker is free from being compelled to take part in jurisdictional strikes;
- 5.—The worker is free from having to play an unwilling part in secondary boycotts;
- 6.—The worker is better protected against wildcat strikes through the requirement of a 60-day cool-off period;
- 7.—The worker is protected against unreasonable union initiation fees, dues, fines and assessments;
- 8.—The worker is protected against political campaign extortion;
- 9.—The worker is protected through the requirement of periodic financial reports against crooks who would loot his union treasury;
- 10.—The worker is guaranteed all these and other rights and protections through the instrumentality of the secret ballot today by the Taft-Hartley Law made mandatory.

Is a single one of these provisions to be interpreted as evidence that the Taft-Hartley Law is in effect a piece of legislation designed to enslave the working man? Or is each one of them evidence that we have on our books a law which is of and for the people who work for wages?

Having peered behind the Iron Curtain lowered on the Act itself by a busy band of displaced autocrats, and having placed ourselves in a position to judge the Act on its merits, wouldn't it be more reasonable for us to assume that the Taft-Hartley Law is in reality something in the nature of a modern emancipation proclamation? An effort on the part of our Federal legislature actually to free the slaves of the labor movement from the bonds of their dictatorial bosses?

The Taft-Hartley Act may not be a perfect law—indeed, it contains a number of major flaws against which I have written on several occasions—but in the main it is a good law and certainly a vast improvement over the old, lop-sided Wagner Act. Corrections should be made for the benefit of all persons concerned. And that means—not the labor boss, who should stay cut down to his present modest dimensions—but rather the American worker, his employer, and the American people as a whole. But the main provisions, such as I have listed above, should certainly be retained.

Throughout the 1948 political campaign, the Taft-Hartley Law served well as a political football. But let me remind the politicians of this nation that the election campaign game is now over and that, since it is, this particular football has been kicked around just about long enough. These are critical times and the shaping of labor legislation is sober business. My advice to the 81st Congress is this: Before moving to provide the nation with a new labor law, beware of feathering a new nest for those who mock justice with so phony a billing as "The Slave Labor Law." Mind the source of this irony and LIFT THE IRON CURTAIN ON TAFT-HARTLEY ACT!

Peck Urges Americans to Protect Greater Powers for the President

By George Peck

For countless centuries billions of men have struggled for the right to govern themselves. When Thomas Jefferson, John Hancock and a small group of serious-minded individuals wrote the American Declaration of Independence, they electrified the masses of people the world over.

Few outside of the 13 colonies thought the colonists would win the glorious rights as pronounced in the Declaration of Independence. But, with the surrender of Cornwallis at Yorktown, our Forefathers had won the right to set up a kind of government of their own choosing—with no King to head it.

Five years later the Constitution was written—the first document in history that put every citizen on equal terms with all other citizens, insofar as his political and legal rights were concerned. It recognized neither royalty nor aristocratic titles. It denied the property owner greater suffrage than the man who owned no property. Under it, for the first time in recorded history, every man could cast a ballot on equal terms and have power on a parity with every other citizen, to choose not only his form of government but the men to run it—with no King to head that government.

No greater sacrifice ever was made than that of the pioneers of the 13 colonies to secure this equality before the ballot box and before the law. Several hundred thousand Americans gave seven years of their lives under arms to win freedom for this country. Many thousands died and many other thousands suffered terrible privations during those seven long years.

For a century and a half we seemed to have a sincere appreciation of this heroic struggle. During that 150 years we built the greatest civilization this world has ever known, and America became the envy of every other nation. Now, many Americans would relegate that sacrifice to the scrap-heap. They have lost that burning desire to be a free people with equal suffrage. Have they come to the conclusion that we are no longer fit to govern ourselves and that we should turn that over to a King and a retinue of bureaucrats?

Last January 20, we witnessed what was termed the inauguration of a president. To many of us the spectacle took on the terrifying aura of a coronation, and the broad, dictatorial powers since asked for by our Chief Executive indicate that he himself, believes he exchanged his misfortune somebore for a crown upon the gala occasion.

Congress must refuse to grant the Administration the authority to impose peace-time controls, to fix prices, to put Uncle Sam into the steel business, or any other business, at its caprice or whim. Otherwise, the sacrifice made by our Forefathers to throw off the yoke of a King will have been in vain.

Let your Congressman and U. S. Senators know that you are bitterly apposed to reverting back to the status of a "subject"—that you wish to remain a "free citizen"—and remind them that Kings have been very much out of style since 1776.

By the Declaration of Independence and the victorious those heroes of the 13 colonies the principle of "The Divine Right of Kings" was established. Notice was given to the world that in the United States no King is wanted.

Danger Is Growing From Ailments of Childhood

Measles and chickenpox widespread throughout the past few weeks, the week ending March 13, reached a total of 3,909 cases, the second highest in the year. Chicken pox was almost seven year median, and W. Cox, state health said that an unusual number of adults are suffering from "childhood" diseases.

"Both these diseases are highly contagious," Dr. Cox said, "and the strictest isolation and precautions are required to halt their spread. Towels, or anything around the patient, germs to other members of the household, and all such should be thoroughly before being handled by susceptible to these diseases."

The State Health Officer recommended that a physician immediately when a child begins showing symptoms of chickenpox or measles, and the disease be followed by complete recovery. Complications often follow measles, and have his entire future care during his illness.

"It is not advisable to let a child have childhood disease," Cox said. "They are responsible for a few days discomfort, but not count on that. They should be taken seriously, and a competent doctor's supervision."

Funeral Sunday For Pioneer of Hamlin Area

Funeral rites were conducted at 3:00 o'clock Sunday afternoon in the First Methodist Church for J. H. Sauls, 81, pioneer resident of Hamlin, who died in Crowell last Friday.

Sauls had lived on his farm north of town since the turn of the century, until he retired from active work, since which time he had made his home with relatives.

He was a charter member of the Hamlin Masonic lodge and had been active in work of the fraternity here.

Born in Coryell County, October

8, 1867, he moved to Jones County in 1902. He died in the home of his daughter, Mrs. Bulah Holcombe, of Crowell.

Rites were conducted by Dr. Will C. House, pastor of the Hamlin Methodist Church, assisted by Rev. J. E. Harrell, pastor of the Anson Methodist Church.

Survivors are three sons, D. B. Sauls of Alpine, W. F. Sauls of Quitaque and G. L. Sauls of Hobbs, New Mexico; and two daughters, Mrs. Aline Rook of Lufkin and Mrs. Holcombe.

Burial was in the East Cemetery, directed by the Barrow Funeral Home.

Mr and Mrs. J. H. Foster spent the week-end in Dallas as guests in the home of their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Foster.

SHORT STORY

Impossible Journey

By SHIRLEY RAY

IT WAS the fifth morning in a row so Mrs. Laughton was not surprised. She slipped out of bed quietly, reached for a robe, and put it over her shoulders.

Before dawn, every morning of that week, her four-year-old daughter had wakened her with gentle but insistent tugs to tell her about the dream she'd just had. Had they been nightmares, Mrs. Laughton would have been eager to get up to comfort a frightened child, but they were never nightmares. They were always gay and fanciful dreams that made the little girl's small face glow with wonder and delight.

So Mrs. Laughton, as on the other mornings, took Ellen into the kitchen and poured a glass of milk for each of them.

With both small hands wrapped around her glass, the little girl sat on the edge of a too large chair and with shining eyes, eagerly told her dream.

"I DREAMED I was sleeping, Mommy, and that the North Wind stopped right outside my window and called my name. He said, 'Ellen—Ellen—wake up and come to the window. Then I'll put you on my shoulder and take you for a ride with me.'"

Mrs. Laughton took a drink from her glass of milk. This dream was going to be very much like the others. Something or someone—once a bluebird, once a fairy—she couldn't recall what the others were—came to the window and offered to take Ellen on an impossible journey. Mrs. Laughton yawned. She would like to have put her daughter to bed and ended the tale at once, but the thought of Mr. Laughton and his sure-to-be-bad disposition made her ask patiently, "What did the North Wind look like, dear?" Ellen was enthusiastic.

"He was green," she declared importantly.

Mrs. Laughton thought to herself, "She doesn't know one color from another."

The child continued. "He had long pointy green shoes and long green hair and a long green nose." The wide eyes and little blonde head leaned forward and the small voice became confidential. "He was all green except for the buckles on his shoes. They were silver and shaped like stars and they sparkled so bright that I had to blink

"We went way up high over the houses and trees."

my eyes as we went through the air."

Mrs. Laughton yawned again. Ellen didn't notice.

"After I climbed onto his shoulder," she said, "we went way up high over all the houses and trees. We woke the leaves and they made shivering noises whenever we passed by. We stirred the dust from the streets so they would be clean for morning."

"BUT soon he said that he must take me back home because there were other towns he had to visit before the night was over. So," (she sounded genuinely disappointed) "we came back to my window. He lifted me down from his shoulder, said goodnight and went away—way up in the sky."

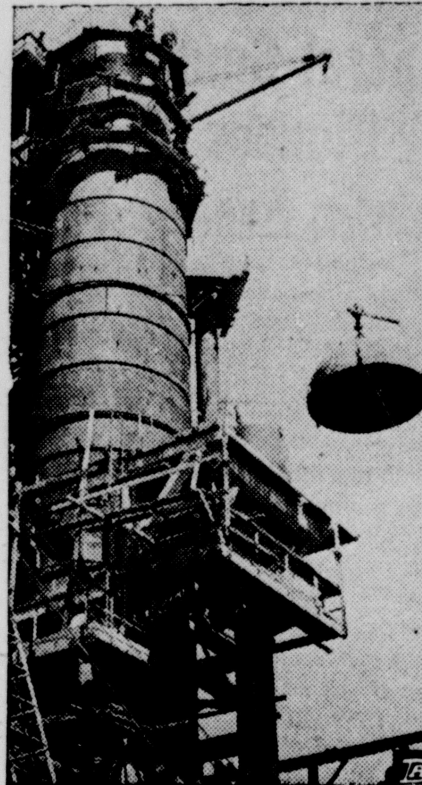

"That's fine, dear—such a fine dream," she said, and added hastily, "Now let's go back to bed."

It was morning. Mr. Laughton had left for the office a couple of hours ago, and Ellen was playing in the yard.

Mrs. Laughton made Ellen's small bed. She picked up a rag doll and set it in a chair. She put the two miniature bedroom slippers in their place in the closet. She picked up a crumpled nightie and started to hang it away.

There was something in the pocket—something heavy. Mrs. Laughton put her hand inside and felt. It was cold and hard.

She drew it out slowly and held it in her hand for a long time. It was a silver buckle in the shape of a star. Released by WNU Features.

Honest Hamlinite in News for Paying Debt

W. J. Gaddy of Hamlin is an honest man! He believes in paying his honest debts, even if circumstances force him to wait 17 years before discharging the obligation.

According to an Associated Press story from Oklahoma City, Gaddy sent a $300 check to the Oklahoma School Land Commission to pay rent he owed for a state-owned farm in 1932. Here's what happened, the AP reported:

Gaddy rented the land near Goodwell, Oklahoma, in 1926. He farmed it and kept up his $200 yearly rent payments until 1932.

That year he disappeared. He still owed a year's rent. The commission finally wrote off the rental as a bad debt.

Friday the commission received a letter from Gaddy.

"I went broke with the rest of them in 1932," he wrote. "I walked away with $10 in my pocket . . . please forgive me."

The commission returned $100 of the payment to the Hamlin man, together with a receipt.

SHORT STORY

Like I Was Telling You

By BARTLEY HOWLEY

PAUL turned a quizzical eye on his companion. She had bright blue eyes that darted happily about the dining car, missing nothing. "Like I was telling you," she said in a birdlike voice, "people don't usually show their true selves. You never can tell just what a person will do providin', of course, he's given an opportunity." Delicately she nibbled a roll. "People are funny, they really are. Don't you think so?" Paul nodded silently. So far he hadn't been given an opportunity to speak but he didn't mind. This lady reminded him of his maiden aunt, an extraordinary woman who had been mother and father to him. She had been gone now for two years.

Miss Harrington, Miss Abigail Harrington, began again. "Take my husband, for instance." Paul lifted an eyebrow.

"You're wonderin' how I could be Miss Harrington, aren't you, young man? It's simple. The judge gave me permission to take my maiden name back. That's what I want to tell you about. It's almost unbelievable the things that people do. Arch, my husband, had a fine education and a marvelous personality." She dipped her head and peeked coyly up. "Suppose it's hard to believe, but I was not so bad myself."

"Arch was downtown one day doing some shopping for me. He was waiting for his package and what do you suppose?"

Paul shook his head. "Well, sir, the woman next to him moved on and left her purse right in front of him. A nice, juicy purse. Now Arch had good pay and everything nice but there it was — in front of him — the big purse — the opportunity. The temptation was too much. Arch fell!" She laid her fork down and wrung her hands. "Naturally I begged him to take it back, pleaded until I was blue in the face. I'll bet you can't imagine what he did?" Paul shook his head.

"He wouldn't fight with me, of course, and he wouldn't take the purse back. He bought me the loveliest dressing gown you've ever seen." Her eyes glowed. "I looked beautiful in it, too. But it was ill-gotten. I was never happy in it." Paul was silent.

"THINGS got from bad to worse. Arch was clever but the police got on and we were hunted all over. I stayed with him naturally because he was my husband and he was good to me. But they caught him." A shadow crossed her face. "They tricked him. That wasn't fair, was it?" Paul shrugged. Abigail Harrington looked up, her sprightly self again. "That's my story. I'm sorry if I've bored you but I've always thought it was a good example of what people will do it given opportunity."

Paul nodded silently and paid the bill. She picked up her purse and beamed at him. They rose together and made their way back to their seats. For the next two hours she prattled on about her family and friends, his family and friends. She asked many questions and answered them herself. The journey was over too soon to suit Paul who was enjoying himself immensely. The train pulling in was giving spasmodic jerks so he placed a protective arm to steady her. He jumped down and turned to help. Too late, he saw that one of her heels had caught on the step and thrown her off balance. He caught her neatly. "That was close," she gasped. "Thank you, young man."

She adjusted her hat and Paul stooped to retrieve her purse and its scattered contents. With a bow, he returned the articles, all except one. It was a gentleman's wallet, his wallet.

His eyes raised to her. "Like I was telling you," she quavered. "People are funny. You never can tell what people will do, given the opportunity."

Stronger Trends in Livestock Prices as Other Markets Droop

Firm to strong livestock and poultry markets partly offset dull to weaker trends on most other Southwest farm products during the past week, the United States Department of Agriculture's Production and Marketing Administration reports.

Most sheep and goats registered net gains of 50 cents to $1 for the week. Good fresh shorn lambs cashed at $22 at San Antonio Monday. Good and choice grades with No. 3 pelts made $24 to $24.75 at Fort Worth. Most good and choice woolskins turned at $2 at Oklahoma City. Denver sellers asked a top of $27.75.

Cattle averaged slightly higher, although all classes at Houston and some kinds at other southwest markets showed little change from a week ago. Inferior and common stocker cows changed hands at $15 to $18 at Houston Monday, as common kinds brought $17.50 to $19 at San Antonio. Fort Worth and Oklahoma City sent stocker cows back to the country at $17 to $20. Denver paid $22 for good stocker heifers.

Hogs recorded only slight up and down variations from a week ago in the southwest. Top butchers sold Monday at $21.25 at San Antonio and Oklahoma City, $21 at Fort Worth, and $22 at Denver. Sows ranged generally from $15.50 to $17.50. Good and choice pigs brought $19 at the Texas markets, and $19.50 in Oklahoma City.

Southwest poultry markets strengthened during the past week, and eggs held steady. Heavy hens ranged from 30 to 35 cents a pound in North Texas, 40 to 43 at New Orleans, and 24 to 35 at Denver. Fryers brought 30 to 32 cents at Dallas and Fort Worth, 30 to 36 at Denver, and 31 to 32 at New Orleans.

Wheat showed a net decline for the week of around seven cents a bushel, white corn five, yellow corn four, barley three, oats two and sorghums two cents per hundred pounds. No. 1 wheat closed Monday at $2.39 to $2.44 at Texas common points. No. 2 white corn sold at $1.70 to $1.74, yellow $1.56 to $1.57 1/2, oats 87 to 91 and milo $2.68 to $2.73.

Wheat millfeeds and corn by product feeds advanced in price, but most other feedstuffs continued downward trends. Hay developed a weaker undertone in unsettled trade. Demand for seed peanuts increased as peanut planting got underway in South Texas. Little business done in Southwest wool or mohair.

Cotton lost 75 cents to $1 a bale. Spot middling 15-16 inch closed Monday at 32.30 cents a pound at Dallas and 32.35 at Houston, Galveston and New Orleans.

Weed Eating Pigs

Pigs raised on poor pastures commonly start to eat weeds, leaves, and other materials that they would ignore if good pasture were provided. A simple type of scours sometimes results, due to irritation of the intestinal tract by the coarse feeds. According to veterinarians, the best thing to do in these cases is to move the herd to a good pasture or to a dry lot where their feeding can be controlled—then allow about a day or two for the trouble to disappear. If there is no improvement, a diagnosis should be obtained to determine the exact nature of the sick-

Hamlin's Red Cross Gifts Close Second

Hamlin was running a close second in Jones County this week in the total amount raised for the annual Red Cross fund drive, when final tabulations were made.

Outstripped only by larger Stamford, the Hamlin total was within $21 of the amount collected in the county's most popular community. It is possible, Arlie Cassle, campaign director, said Thursday, that late returns will raise Hamlin to first place.

Stamford reported $2,205.15 to $2,165.71 for Hamlin and Anson was in third place with slightly more than $1,300.

Jones County's total collections reported were $5,145, with a few scattering communities yet to report.
